

The Christian Duty

God and Jesus Christ our Maker is the true leader and Lord of Heaven and Earth. God who created us free in his likeness, designed us carefully, breathed life into us, loves us more than we know, and guides us according to his goodness, God and Christ who deserve all honor, and who taught by example selflessness, honesty, and loyalty, that same true, holy, and good God designed both man and woman according to his plan. Therefore, the Christian duty by God's example is to primarily become a man of truth, seeking and working for the truth, because God is the God of Truth, Jesus Christ is the Truth, and God's Holy Spirit is the Spirit of Truth. Loyalty of the soul belongs only to God. As God commanded that we Christians should love each other, and that we should love our neighbor as ourselves, we Christians have the solemn duty to be the agents of faith in God and demonstrators of his guidance for the benefit of all those around us. We Christians are bound by God's guidance of infinite wisdom to only ever do good and not evil. Although we are to be infinitely loyal only to God who we know, we Christians as agents of God, who is the author of freedom, must also work in God's authority to defend our nations whose people love God and desire to live in freedom according to God's will. We Christians must learn Jesus Christ's guidance as much as we can, learn the truth of important matters as much as we can, and be the leaders in truth towards Jesus Christ's salvation and ultimate prosperity of the nations in which we live. We must not become slaves to wealth or pagan treacheries, because God has taught us better, but we must always rely on God as Lord and be loyal to the nation by demonstrating the wisdom from God that God would have bring that nation into excellence in truth and life. We must also ask God to bless those around us, because we know that God is capable of more than we can imagine. We Christians must defend our nations against the subversive ideologies and murderous schemes of Satan who works to deceive men and destroy all life on earth. And that spiritual fight for Jesus Christ is worth dying for. We Christians must be the warriors who cast out demons and protect the helpless, because that is what God taught us to do. Courage, love, goodness, and peace are ours in Jesus Christ into the eons.
